Doctor Who The Visitation

The Visitation is the fourth serial of the 19th season of the British science fiction television series Doctor Who, which was first broadcast in four twice-weekly parts on BBC1 from 15 to 23 February 1982. The serial is set in and near London in the 17th century. In the serial, a group of fugitive aliens called Terileptils plot to make the Earth their new home by spreading a deadly plague among humanity.

The Visitation (Doctor Who) - Wikipedia

Michael Robbins is also brilliant as Richard Mace, a rich character who enriches the story and has quite a journey across the 4 episodes. Other guest roles are very good and the TARDIS crew are solid. The relationships are strong and apart from an annoying scene at the start with Tegan getting angry they do their jobs well.

"Doctor Who" The Visitation: Part One (TV Episode 1982) - IMDb

`The Visitation' gives the Doctor more companions than you can waggle a gill-flap at (if you're a Terraleptil), no less than four. The fourth `companion' is the wonderful creation of Richard Mace, out of work 17th century "ac-tor" and part time highwayman, played with zest, flamboyance and a rich, rolling delivery by Michael Robbins.

The Series: Originally shown in February of 1982, The Visitation is regarded by many fans as a high point in Peter Davison's run as the lead in Doctor Who. Directed by Peter Moffatt, it's a good mix of sci-fi, tension, odd history and even some effective comedy, the kind of mix that you find in the best of the series' storylines.

Doctor Who: The Visitation : DVD Talk Review of the DVD Video

In “The Visitation” the Doctor goes to the time of the plagues, middle ages Europe. He meets a highwayman (robber) who is quite classy for a robber. The problem is that a small group of alien creatures crash landed on the earth and now they are trying to take over the earth.
